

Andrew R. Faulring

January 22, 1977 - January 10, 2018

Andrew Robert Faulring passed away on January 10, 2018, at the age of 40 from complications of pancreatic cancer.

Raised in Maryland in the suburbs of Washington, D.C., Andrew graduated high school from Georgetown Preparatory School. He attended Carnegie Mellon University in Pittsburgh where he graduated with dual-degrees in computer science and human-computer interaction, earning university and department honors. He stayed at CMU to complete a master's degree in computer science and earned a National Science Foundation Graduate Research Fellowship. He then worked as a research programmer at the Human-Computer Interaction Institute for a decade.

Andrew enjoyed numerous hobbies, including photography, gardening, reading and hiking. He especially liked astrophysics and made trips to Florida to witness space shuttle launches. He was an Eagle Scout and a loyal fan cheering for the Pittsburgh Penguins and Steelers.

He is survived by his father Jerry, mother Paula (nee Dinka), siblings Laura (AJ), Amy (Dave) and Jeff, nephews Calvin and George and niece Eliana, and numerous aunts, uncles, cousins, extended family and dear friends.

A memorial service will be held in the spring.

Memorial donations in honor of Andrew may be made to the UPMC Hillman Cancer Center (<http://upci.upmc.edu/giving/>).

Comments

“ I'm very sorry to hear of your loss. Andrew was such a lovely, smart, dedicated, decent guy who was endlessly curious. I very much enjoyed working with him at CMU.

My sincere condolences to his family,
Lizzie Miller

Lizzie Miller - January 20, 2018 at 10:37 PM

“ My condolences to the Faulring family. May the GOD of all comfort sustain you during this difficult time
Isaiah 61:1,2

Mary Ann - January 19, 2018 at 10:20 AM

“ Andrew was 1 in a million.

Mike - January 14, 2018 at 09:32 PM

“ I am so sorry and sad to hear this news. Andrew was a student of mine while an undergrad at CMU - he was everything one could possibly want in a student. Incredibly curious, incredibly bright, intellectually playful, and a kind and thoughtful person. My heartfelt condolences.

Richard Scheines -
Dean of the Dietrich College of Humanities and Social Sciences,
Carnegie Mellon

Richard Scheines - January 14, 2018 at 08:20 AM

“ Sending much peace and comfort to you, Amy, and all your family, as you begin this new journey of grief and transition after the loss of Andrew. I hope you'll be able to take that path just one little step at a time with the assurance there likely won't be a day you don't think of your brother and that he will be held in your hearts and memories always...sharing your sorrow and the hopes for moments of lightness and the shoulders of good friends when things seem too heavy to carry. Take good care and be kind and gentle to yourselves XOXO Lisa Fleischer (Philly SURJ)

Lisa Fleischer - January 11, 2018 at 09:50 PM