“ I will miss you dearly Sir Dr. Fritz. That's what I called him. I served working for this man on & off about 9 years. It was a honor getting to know him. He was very interesting to me so we bonded into a friendship that I will never forget. He was rough around the edges but I never gave up on our friendship. So that all will know he that Sir Fritz did receive Christ into his life nearing his last days. I can just see him with the Lord now. I loved this man who taught me a lot and so did I him. You mean so much to me Sir. I miss you every passing day. I called him Dr. Fritz because he loved fixing things like I do. Until we meet again my friend. Dave Miller.

“ My brother was what he was. Sometimes loving and helpful, other times he wanted to be alone. Growing up with him, I have many memories of him, some good and some not-so-good. We were close in childhood. I remember how he encouraged me with my treatment of walking when I finally got him. He'd encourage me to do the exercises and listen to the OT and PT. We'd talked for hours about things to help me walk. I miss him so much. I catch myself reaching for the phone to call him but he's not here anymore to share with me. He was gentle towards his end. Loving and understanding. I'll miss him but will see him again one day.
