“ I am convinced... this entire reality is on God's hands and that we are woven into a larger reality that we can't see. All that is good, and, also that which appears otherwise, is 100% acceptable in a larger perspective. Even losses are OK because there is a much greater purpose here. We are here to love and have compassion with for each other. We extend this to Laurie, her family and all of us who exist now and forever.

“ There's a saying that goes, "your cousins are your first best friend." This is so true of the Broderick 4 and Stampahar 5! But I had an additional experience that Laurie was the closest to having a sister I would have until I was older. (Only girl in the Broderick 4) Laurie and I are the babies of both groups. We are 4 days shy of being a full year apart in age. When we were little, I knew what shoe went on what foot and she could tie shoes! A great team! My brothers and I would conspire to see who was going to hide when we were leaving to get to stay the weekend ... or in some cases the week, with just the clothes on our backs. It didn't matter, there was always enough of everything to go around. My favorite sneak sleepover week, Laurie and I would walk every day to and from the pool! When we would get home, we would make chocolate chip ice cream (vanilla ice cream with chopped up chocolate chips mixed in) we were around 7 yrs old and she was already cooking then! I will miss you my 1st friend/my sister cousin ... forever. When I think of you, I will always see your beautiful smile that lit up your entire face. Until we see each other again, rest ... I'll be expecting a bowl of chocolate chip ice cream when I return home to heaven some day. I love you always, Kathleen

My prayers and deepest condolences to my extended family during this very difficult time. I am always going to remember how she welcomed me into the family, the kindness she showed me has always touched me and I will never forget that, as much as that meant to me shows how wonderful a person she was. I am happy to be one of many who's lives she touched. I have spent the last few days cherishing her memory, I am so lucky to have known Laurie and will carry her memory with me.
