

Louise M. Turner

April 7, 1951 - February 19, 2019

Louise M. Turner

Louise M. Turner was born on April 7, 1951 in Buffalo, New York. She was the daughter of Lanness and Mildred Turner.

Full of courage with a desire to serve, Louise joined the United States Army and also served in the US Air Force National Guard. Louise is the mother of one beloved son Scott C. Turner whom she devoted her life in raising with love.

On September 25, 1989, Louise joined the Pittsburgh Police Department, spending many years as a Gold Badge Detective in the Narcotics and Vice Department, and ultimately spending the duration of her 22 year tenure as an Officer serving out of Zone 2 and 6 Police Stations located in the Hill and West End Section of the City of Pittsburgh, until she retired from the department on July 6, 2010. Upon her retirement from the City, Louise joined the Allegheny County Police Department where she was stationed and patrolled for six years at the Pittsburgh International Airport, a position that she truly loved.

A lover of music, and musical genius in her own right, Louise was a phenomenal bass guitarist, playing around the City of Pittsburgh in her youth. When not playing her beloved bass, she would often spend countless hours creating her own musical masterpieces in her self-built studio, honing her skills with other instruments, or simply listening to music with a hot cup of coffee or tea, and a quality cigar.

Though small in stature, Louise, known affectionately as "Lou" was a giant in life. Caring, generous and full of passion, she made sure that those she cared for knew it. Whether it be a kind word, a small gift, a delicious meal, or a grand gesture, she made it a point to be a blessing to someone each and every day. She truly was an angel on earth, teaching so many about so much, and loving everyone around her deeply and unconditionally.

She is survived by her beloved son Scott C. Turner, daughter-in-law Kenya Newell, three grandchildren, Caitlyn Portis, Scott K. Turner, and Maxwell Newell, sisters, Kathryn Fullone, Deborah Harris, god son Michael Banks, adopted sister and friend Shannon Davis, and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, one great grandson, relatives, and many great friends. Visitation will be held from 9:00 am to 12:00 noon with a funeral service directly following on Monday, Feb. 25, 2019, at Kingdom Life Ministries International, 6378 Centre Ave. Pgh., PA 15206.

The Lord saw it was time and reached out His hand, a simple gesture with no demand. You took His hand in yours, believing in His plan and now you are resting in Glory Land! And though we'll miss you and your special kind of love, we know that you're watching, and smiling from above. An angel here on earth, now you have your wings; It's peaceful to know you're resting with the King of Kings. Such a friend and blessing to everyone you knew, you will forever live and be remembered.... Our dear and precious Lou.

“ My Dear Sister Friend Louise (Lou) Turner I will always remember you for the kindness that you've shown me and my children and we will forever honor your memory by passing that same kindness on to others. What an amazing person you were to all of us that had an encounter with you. From the Green Forest to all of the other fun memorable moments that we've enjoyed together until our final stop on Los Angeles Ave. I will always remember your smile, your laugh, your chilli 🍲 and most importantly your big heart. Rest easy my sister friend forever in my heart Lori

“ My Dear Friend Lou,
Your friendship was indelible. I will never forget our trip to Newport News, Virginia. It was there with you I received word of my Mother's passing. You helped me hold it together as I made plans to fly back, leaving you stuck driving home alone. I will remember the scuba-diving adventure and, the pure LAUGHTER! I will miss your kindness, quiet reserve, and contagious SMILE! RWG My Dear Friend.

“ My heart is heavy knowing that my best friend is gone! God truly has a very special angel with him now.

Her laugh and caring nature for people was infectious. Her calm demeanor helped me become a better person. She was the best friend and partner anyone could ever have. I will always remember our time on the force together. Boy, do we have stories! She liked to drive, while I liked to run. "Let me out right here Lou, I'll catch em!" I would say to her, as she drove like a professional Nascar driver on the streets of Pittsburgh. If you knew Lou you would know that Lou liked to talk. So when we did finally catch the individual, they would get an earful. I learned so much from Lou and will remember and cherish our friendship forever.

Rest my good friend. You are now at peace.

With much love, your "homie."

Lou, no one had a bigger heart then you. If there was something you could do to help someone, you did it. I remember you contacting me to talk about music. In that conversation, I mentioned that I wanted to begin playing the violin again. A few days later, you had Valerie drop me off a violin. If there was a way to make someone happy, there you were. You see, GOD knows that you will treat yourself well, but what he wants to see is how well you treat others. So I know as you served your time on this earth, GOD smiled down on you many of days. There is a line in the bible where he says, "YOU HAVE DONE WELL MY GOOD AND FAITHFUL SERVANT." You are are a great example of how people should treat each other. You are loved my friend and will be truly missed.

*Love always,
Michelle T*

WOW! I've heard so many say you were a talker but you never talked that much when we rode together. I did the talking. Why was that? I have to wait for the answer. Our time together was special. Always an experience. Our times of talking about the Lord was so enriching. I learned from you and I am missing you already. I didn't get a chance to play Mah-jongg with you. You were open to new things. You sparked the thinker in me but stopped me when too analytical. You took life in stride and dealt well with the life you had. Forever missed and loved

Being your friend was easy, saying good-bye is even harder. But I know that God has you all wrapped in his arms. Lou, your smile, laughter and just plain warmth is something that I will miss. I will miss our special times together, the laughter, the serious talks and just hanging out with you. Thank you for enriching my life, adding flavor and new adventures. I'm missing you already and won't say good-bye, just see you later friend.
