“ Tom was my bestie and I was fortunate to have his presence in my life. I have met many of his friends over the years and he was certainly well loved. His work friends have all made the same comment that he was MacGyver and there was nothing he could not fix. He was always joking and kidding around with everyone. He lived his life on his own terms and was generous and kind to those in need. He would give you the shirt off his back. I already miss his laughter. I can't imagine the havoc he is now playing in the universe and hope he is riding amongst the stars. My deepest sympathy to his extended family. Please keep his memory alive by sharing your favorite stories.

Rest in peace Cuz. Miss you at the voting poll. We could back and laugh about me babysitting you and Terry. You were always laughing. Yes you were good at making havoc. I can hear your laughter from the heavens. One of those stars is really a hole that you use to keep an I on us. Love you Cuz.
