“ My deepest condolences to the Ivanusic Family. My memories go back to 1953 when we moved next door on Sawyer Street, which we referred to as the road. The Ivanusic Family were the best neighbors one could wish for, and I always thought of myself as being a part of the family. I shall never forget the entire family, and the days/evenings we spent shooting the bull (so to speak) and hanging out at Tracy's Bar. The younger Ivanusic's Bill, George, Richard O'Hara, and myself were pretty tight back then. I could go on but I'm sure you know how I feel with my preceding thoughts. God Bless, and you all will remain in my thoughts, and prayers. With deepest regrets, Joe Brosky. (Butch)
